REFERENCE DOCUMENTS FOR THE GENERAL MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS

Proposals and References

Proposal No. 1: Appropriation of Surplus

The Company hereby proposes to appropriate the surplus as described below.

1. Matters Regarding Fiscal Year-end Dividend

The Company places the highest priority on distribution of results through dividends as a measure of returning profits to shareholders. Our basic dividend strategy outlines steadily increasing dividends through continuous growth in earnings per share by enhancing and strengthening its corporate earning capacity based on a long-term perspective. Furthermore, its policy is to achieve the stable increase of dividends, with dividend payout ratio of around 30% of profit attributable to owners of parent.

On the other hand, to maintain its competitiveness based on advanced technical capabilities as the leading company in photonics, the Company believes long-term investment will be essential for the research and development necessary to achieve long-term growth of our corporate value and creation of the photon-based industries. To accomplish this, the Company also recognizes the importance of ensuring a certain level of funds on hand to provide for research and development investment and for capital investment. In addition, while the Company also regards funds on hand as a bulwark against earthquakes and other natural disasters and maintains a high level of retained earnings, it recognizes such funds contribute to the further enhancement of corporate value through business investment for the development of highly competitive future products.

Based on the above policy and a comprehensive review of various factors including its financial results, the Company proposes a year-end dividend of 40 yen per share. The amount of annual dividend will be 72 yen per share including an interim dividend of 32 yen we have already paid, which is 24 yen more than that for the previous fiscal year.

(1) Type of property for dividends:

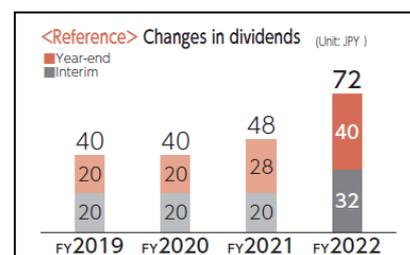

Cash

(2) Allotment of property for dividends and total amount thereof:

40 yen per share of common stock of the Company for a total of 6,204,277,800 yen

(3) Effective date for distribution of dividends from surplus:

December 19, 2022

2. Other Matters Regarding Appropriation of Surplus

To reinforce its management base to prepare for business developments in the future while preparing for providing stable dividends to shareholders, the Company proposes to make an account transfer as follows.

(1) Item of surplus to be increased and amount thereof:

General reserve: 13,000,000,000 yen

Reserve for dividends: 4,000,000,000 yen

(2) Item of surplus to be decreased and amount thereof:

Retained earnings brought forward: 17,000,000,000 yen

Accompanying the enforcement of the revised provisions provided for in the proviso to Article 1 of the Supplementary Provisions of the Act Partially Amending the Companies Act (Act No. 70 of 2019) on September 1, 2022, as well as the introduction of the system for providing informational materials for the general meeting of shareholders in electronic format, the Company proposes to make the following changes to its Articles of Incorporation.

(1) Article 15 (Measures for Providing Reference Documents for the General Meeting of Shareholders, etc. in Electronic Format), paragraph 1 in “Proposed change” below will stipulate that the Company shall take measures for providing information that constitutes the content of reference documents for the general meeting of shareholders, etc. in electronic format.

(2) Article 15 (Measures for Providing Reference Documents for the General Meeting of Shareholders, etc. in Electronic Format), paragraph 2 in “Proposed change” below will establish the provision to limit the scope of the items to be stated in the paper-based documents to be delivered to shareholders who requested the delivery of paper-based documents.

(3) Once the system for providing informational materials for the general meeting of shareholders in electronic format is introduced, the provisions of Article 15 of the current Articles of Incorporation (Internet-based Disclosure and Deemed Provision of Reference Documents for the General Meeting of Shareholders) will no longer be required. Reason for nomination as a candidate for Outside Director and overview of expected roles

Takuo Hirose has experience over many years as an international attorney, and has a wealth of experience and outstanding insight in the field of corporate legal affairs.
 In light of the above, the Company expects that he will utilize his wealth of experience and outstanding insight for the Company's management to provide well-informed advice from an independent standpoint and supervise business execution. Therefore, the Company proposes his reelection as an Outside Director. Although he has not been involved in the management of a company in the past except as an Outside Director or other officer, the Company judges that he will appropriately fulfill his duties as an Outside Director based on the above reasons.

Service period as an Outside Director of the Company

Takuo Hirose's service period as an Outside Director will be one (1) year at the conclusion of this General Meeting of Shareholders.

Matters concerning independence

The Company had filed Takuo Hirose as an independent officer with the Tokyo Stock Exchange, in accordance with the rules of the Exchange. If he is reappointed as proposed, the Company intends to continuously appoint him as an independent officer. The Company has transactional relationships with Anderson Mori & Tomotsune LPC including the provision of legal advisory services. The scale of such transactions with Anderson Mori & Tomotsune LPC is no more than 0.1% of the Company's consolidated net sales and the Company enlists such services from attorneys of Anderson Mori & Tomotsune LPC other than Hirose. Therefore, the Company is sufficiently convinced of his independent status.

Summary of contents of agreements to limit liability

Based on the Articles of Incorporation, the Company has entered into Agreement Limiting Liability with Takuo Hirose regarding the obligations set in Article 423 paragraph (1) of the Companies Act, to limit his obligation to the minimum allowance set by Article 425 paragraph (1) of the Companies Act. The Company plans to continue this agreement with Takuo Hirose if the reappointment of Takuo Hirose is approved.

- Notes:

The Company has entered into a directors and officers liability insurance policy as provided for in Article 430-3, paragraph (1) of the Companies Act with an insurance company that includes all Directors as insureds. The insurance policy covers any losses that may arise from an insured's assumption of liability incurred in the course of the performance of duties as a Director, or receipt of claims pertaining to the pursuit of such liability. If each candidate assumes office as a Director, they will be included as an insured in this policy. In addition, the Company plans to renew the insurance policy with the same terms at the next renewal.

(From October 1, 2021 through September 30, 2022)

1. Matters Concerning the Corporate Group

(1) Business Operations and Results

During the fiscal year ended September 30, 2022 (from October 1, 2021 through September 30, 2022), Japan's economy showed signs of a recovery in corporate earnings and capital investment in some sectors. However, the economy was marked by mounting uncertainties regarding factors such as surging resource prices largely due to prolonged difficulties in procuring raw materials and effects of the situation in Ukraine, in addition to resurgence of the COVID-19 pandemic. Meanwhile, the environment surrounding the Group remained severe and subject to uncertainties ahead, particularly given concerns of an economic downturn due to tightening of monetary policy worldwide.

Given these circumstances, the Group persisted in making capital investments aimed at strengthening production capacity, in addition to continuously taking COVID-19 prevention measures for the sake of guarding against spread of the virus to its employees and avoiding effects on production activities. The Group has also been striving to increase net sales and earnings by engaging in R&D and product development that takes advantage of the Company's proprietary photonics technologies.

As a result, we closed the fiscal year 2022 with net sales of JPY 208,803 million, up by JPY 39,776 million (23.5%) from the previous year, due to increases in both domestic and overseas sales. From an earnings perspective as well, ordinary profit was JPY 58,879 million, up by JPY 24,230 million (69.9%) from the previous year and profit attributable to owners of parent was JPY 41,295 million, up by JPY 16,241 million (64.8%) from the previous year, each reaching a record high.

Establishment of nanoparticle technology for anticancer drugs using lasers

Paclitaxel (PTX) is an anticancer drug used in the treatment of breast cancer and other types of cancer. Because it has extremely low water solubility, it is generally used for treatment by dissolving it in a solvent containing ethanol or another such substance. When administered internally, however, such solvents may cause allergic reactions or other side-effects, which has given rise to the need for a method for increasing the solubility of PTX that does not require use of a solvent.

In response, the Company established a method for subdividing PTX down to the nanoparticle level by irradiating PTX in a solution with a laser of a specific wavelength using an aqueous solution instead of a solvent.

Dissolution studies reproducing the biological environment using such PTX-loaded nanoparticles have yielded substantially improved solubility relative to use of conventional PTX. Meanwhile, in vivo studies using mice have confirmed that it is possible to achieve therapeutic efficacy equivalent to the use of conventional PTX, without the side-effects. It is hoped that this methodology will contribute to the establishment of a new approach to anticancer drug production that reduces burden on patients, and it is also hoped that this methodology will have applications with respect to various therapeutic drugs with poor water solubility.

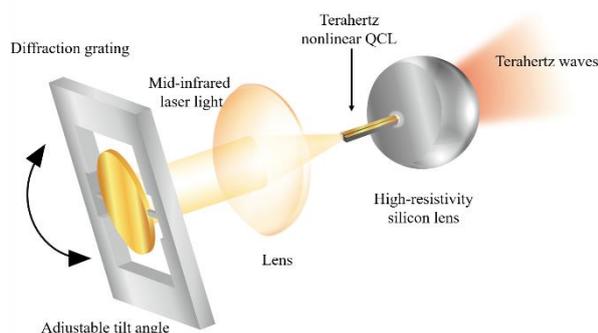

▲ This is an illustration of PET images related to in vivo studies using mice. Tumorous activity is more pronounced in the red areas. Tumorous activity indicated by the arrows attenuates after administration of either conventional paclitaxel (PTX) or PTX-loaded nanoparticles, thereby indicating no difference in efficacy of PTX therapy.

The world's first quantum cascade laser module with a tunable terahertz frequency range

We have been seeking solutions for test sample analysis and non-destructive testing that involve irradiating samples with terahertz waves, a type of electromagnetic wave, and measuring the rate of absorption. The Company has enlisted its proprietary technologies in developing a terahertz frequency range quantum cascade laser<sup>1</sup> (QCL) light source that operates at room temperature across a greater wavelength range. However, in order to achieve more accurate analysis, it is necessary to irradiate samples by switching the terahertz frequency to match the components within the sample, which calls for a single light source module with the capability of tunable frequency.

In response, the Company optimized QCL configurations drawing on its terahertz wave research analysis and technology developed over many years, while combining such technology with components such as diffraction grating that disperses and reflects light at different wavelengths. We have developed the world's first QCL module that makes it possible to freely switch frequencies by controlling the tilt of the diffraction grating and adjusting the reflection angle of the optical beam<sup>2</sup>.

This results in better accuracy and efficiency of quality assessments and non-destructive testing of pharmaceuticals, foods, and semiconductor materials. We are also seeking to apply this technology to ultra-high-speed wireless communications using terahertz waves.

▲ This illustrates the mechanism for frequency switching. It is possible to switch the frequency of the terahertz wave by changing the tilt of the diffraction grating.

<Development Sector>

Development of world's first THz image intensifier capable of real-time imaging

Although terahertz wave non-destructive testing is useful for detecting materials such as nails and films that are difficult to detect by inspections using x-rays, its limited operation speed served as a hurdle to real-time imaging when using prevailing imaging methods that involve converting terahertz waves into heat.

In response, the Company developed an image intensifier<sup>3</sup> capable of real-time imaging through a method that involves converting terahertz waves into electrons and then converting those electrons into light. This has culminated in the world's first fast-response, high-resolution image intensifier, upon having achieved success in efficiently converting terahertz waves into electrons and amplifying the electrons using photoelectric conversion technology previously developed through joint research with the Technical University of Denmark, and also enlisting imaging technology and design ingenuity amassed over many years.

The combination of this image intensifier and terahertz wave light sources is poised to enable quick in-line detection of contaminants in materials, such that are difficult to detect using X-ray non-destructive testing. Moreover, this technology holds promise with respect to applications involving walk-through security checks at event venues and other such locations given that terahertz waves do not have harmful effects on the human body.

1. A quantum cascade laser (QCL) is a semiconductor laser light source that uses a special structure in the light-emitting layer which enables high output power in a wavelength range from the mid-infrared to the far-infrared region, unlike conventional lasers.
2. Part of this research was commissioned by the Japanese Ministry of Internal Affairs and Communications as a "Strategic Information and Communications R&D Promotion Program (SCOPE)" (No. JP195006001).
3. Image intensifiers are imaging devices capable of detecting and amplifying very low-level visible and invisible light.

Development of avalanche photodiode (APD) array for industrial LiDAR that achieves lower costs and fast response

Avalanche photodiodes (APDs) are optical semiconductor sensors equipped with the capability of amplifying optical signals. They are widely used in LiDAR<sup>4</sup> applications because they are able to detect low-level light with higher sensitivity to measure the distance to far-away objects. Although the Company had previously developed an APD array containing multiple APDs for industrial LiDAR, the APD array required separate control circuits and temperature sensors for adjusting the signal multiplication factor to match changes in ambient temperature when in use.

In response, the Company developed an APD array equipped with a self-bias generator for stabilizing the signal multiplication factor using the Company's proprietary semiconductor fabrication technology. This eliminates the need for control circuits and temperature sensors to adjust the signal multiplication factor. We have also achieved improvement with respect to detection accuracy and distance as a result of having optimized design of built-in signal processing circuits and having improved signal response time by approximately threefold that of conventional products. This APD array product promises to achieve lower costs and greater performance of LiDAR installed in automated guided vehicles.

As reported above, we are using the proprietary photonics technologies our Group has cultivated over many years to pursue basic research aimed at the creation of new knowledge and new industries and undertake development that seeks to create new products and further enhance the high performance and added value of existing products in sectors such as biotechnology, medical care, information, telecommunications, energy, materials, space and astronomy and agriculture.

For the fiscal year ended September 30, 2022, research and development expenses decreased to JPY 11,269 million (down by 0.9%) compared with the previous fiscal year.

(5) Issues to be Addressed

With regard to the business environment surrounding the Group, signs of recovery in corporate earnings and capital investment in some sectors aside, the outlook for the global economy has remained uncertain particularly given concerns of an economic downturn due to tightening of monetary policy worldwide, in addition to resurgence of the COVID-19 pandemic, prolonged difficulties in procuring raw materials, and effects of the situation in Ukraine.

Operating under such conditions, the Company has continued to achieve sales growth as a result of maintaining strong performance since the previous fiscal year across major industries including the medical, industrial and analysis fields. In particular, earnings were driven by semiconductor-related products for industrial equipment against a backdrop marked by global expansion of semiconductor-related demand for 5G, data centers and other applications, and sales of medical-bio instruments also performed well. As a result, the Group achieved record-high net sales and profit in the fiscal year.

Demand for the photonics technologies pursued by our Group has been increasingly mounting in cutting-edge technological domains including the medical, industrial and analysis fields, which has prompted us to reaffirm the notion that products supplied by the Company serve as “Key Enabling Technology” that improves performance of our customers’ end products worldwide.

For the Group, we seek to keep supplying products and technologies that society needs, which will involve forging ahead with capital investment necessary for the future, refining core technologies that drive business, actively engaging in co-creation with our partners in Japan and overseas with whom synergies with our optical technologies can be expected, and taking on challenges of expanding the optical application industry, the Company’s business domain.

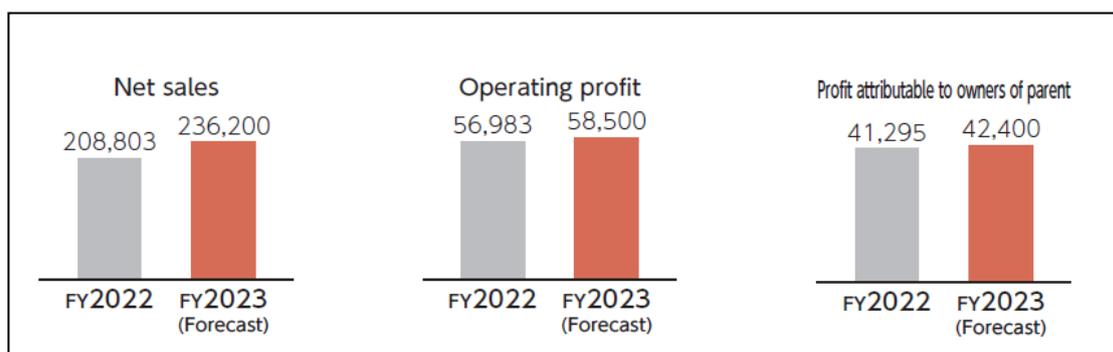

Meanwhile, our initiatives for new growth going forward entail taking steps to strengthen our management structure with the aim of achieving medium- to long-term business expansion. This will involve making the laser business a new pillar of our operations, enhancing coordination company-wide including three business divisions and the Central Research Laboratory, and fully leveraging synergies derived from such efforts.

For the Group, we will strive to increase our corporate value by using photonics technologies to help address various issues such as environmental and social challenges with our sights set on achieving a sustainable society, while never forgetting the venture mentality we have maintained since the Company’s founding.

We look forward to continuing to receive your unwavering support and encouragement in the future.

The number of Directors at the conclusion of the said Ordinary General Meeting of Shareholders was 10

(including four (4) Outside Directors).

2. At the 72nd Ordinary General Meeting of Shareholders held on December 20, 2019, aiming to contribute to continuous improvement in corporate value from the same position as our shareholders by promoting the long-term, stable holding of the Company's stock by Directors, it was resolved that the remuneration for granting restricted stock to Directors (excluding Outside Directors) shall be up to 200 million yen per year (however, not more than 200,000 shares per year), separately from the remuneration described in 1. above. The number of Directors at the conclusion of the said Ordinary General Meeting of Shareholders was 13 (including two (2) Outside Directors).

(The amount shown above includes a transfer of the provision for officers' retirement benefits included in the total amount of officers' remuneration and other benefits disclosed in the Business Report for the prior fiscal year.)

c. Matters including policy for determining the content of Directors' remuneration and others

The Company has adopted a resolution on the policy for determining the content of individual remuneration, etc. for Directors and other matters at a Board of Directors meeting. Furthermore, the Board of Directors meeting has judged that the method of determining the details of remuneration, etc. and the content of determined remuneration. are consistent with the determination policy resolved by the Board of Directors meeting, and accordingly, that the remuneration, etc. for each individual Director in the fiscal year ended September 30, 2021, is in line with said determination policy. The policy for determining the content of remuneration, etc. for individual Directors is as follows.

The Company pursues the unknown where no one has yet explored. By leveraging photonics technology to establish new industries and reach for the world's highest levels of manufacturing excellence, we build enterprise value and contribute to the development of science and technology. However, only a small fraction of the nature of light has been elucidated. We explore fields not yet explained. Based on the knowledge generated by that inquiry, we require our Directors and employees to seek potential applications. Based on this idea, the Company requires Directors to pursue outcomes from a medium to long-term rather than a short-term perspective. Therefore, the Company considers that fixed remuneration is most suitable as the base remuneration for Directors.

On the other hand, as Directors are obligated to fulfill their commitments to our shareholders, aiming to contribute to continuous improvement in corporate value from the same position as our shareholders by promoting the long-term, stable holding of the Company's stock by Directors, in January 2020 we introduced stock-based remuneration (restricted stock-based remuneration).

As a result, remuneration for Directors of the Company (excluding Outside Directors) is composed of fixed remuneration and stock-based remuneration.

Regarding the amount of Director remuneration, fixed monthly remuneration established based on position is decided at the Board of Directors meetings and paid monthly. Furthermore, stock-based remuneration set at around 15% of total Director remuneration is decided for each Director at the Board of Directors meetings and paid prior with a 30-year transfer restriction period from the record date. Additionally, only fixed remuneration is paid as remuneration for Outside Directors.
